

Monument Types ARTEFACT SCATTER (Roman – 43 AD to 409 AD) Associated Finds PIN (Roman – 43 AD to 409 AD) QUERN (Roman – 43 AD to 409 AD) SHERD (Roman – 43 AD to 409 AD)

- c) HER Number: MLI30131 Barbed and tanged arrowhead found in Barrowby. Grid Reference: SK 888 350 Map Sheet: SK83NE Parish: BARROWBY, SOUTH KESTIVEN, LINCOLNSHIRE The blade of a Bronze Age barbed and tanged arrowhead found and later held by Kings School Archaeological Society.

Monument Types FINDSPOT (Bronze Age – 2200 BC to 801 BC) Associated Finds BARBED AND TANGED ARROWHEAD (Bronze Age – 2200 BC to 801 BC)

- d) HER Number: MLI30121 Stone Macehead found in Barrowby Grid Reference: SK 890 354 Map Sheet: SK83NE Parish: BARROWBY, SOUTH KESTIVEN, LINCOLNSHIRE A stone macehead, probably of Bronze Age date, found in 1957 in Barrowby.

Monument Types FINDSPOT (Bronze Age – 2200 BC to 801 BC) Associated Finds MACE (Bronze Age – 2200 BC to 801 BC)

Map of archaeological remains

It is vital that a full Archeological assessment and investigation take place on the site. Again the [REDACTED] is enhanced by the remains noted above.

Conclusion

I understand that it is the Government's overarching aim that the historic environment and its heritage assets should be conserved for the quality of life they bring to this and future generations. This is to be achieved through a number of objectives, including sustainable development (recognising that heritage assets are a non-renewable resource), conservation of assets in a manner appropriate to their significance and development of knowledge and understanding of our past through evidence gathering and promotion.

In my view the proposed development at SKR- PR327 offends this aim and I therefore object to it.